Analysis of sample resignation letter:

The linked resignation letter contains a very large amount of redundancy. Sean Grande's resignation letter is written with a great amount of meta discourse. The main point of a resignation letter is for an employee to tell an employer why he/she is resigning. Sean Grande expands on this by writing about his whole life story which gets increasingly dull to read for readers who do not take interest in the subject of MMA. Sean Grande's letter reads more like a book when compared to a letter. Sean Grande's letter most likely would not be able to fit in a single page because of its length. A resignation letter of better quality could be written briefly and still portray the author's point across to the employer. Sean Grande presenting this letter to his employer makes Sean seem self-centred. An employer does not want to hear somebodies life story in their resignation letter.
